Yearbook Team Message 120

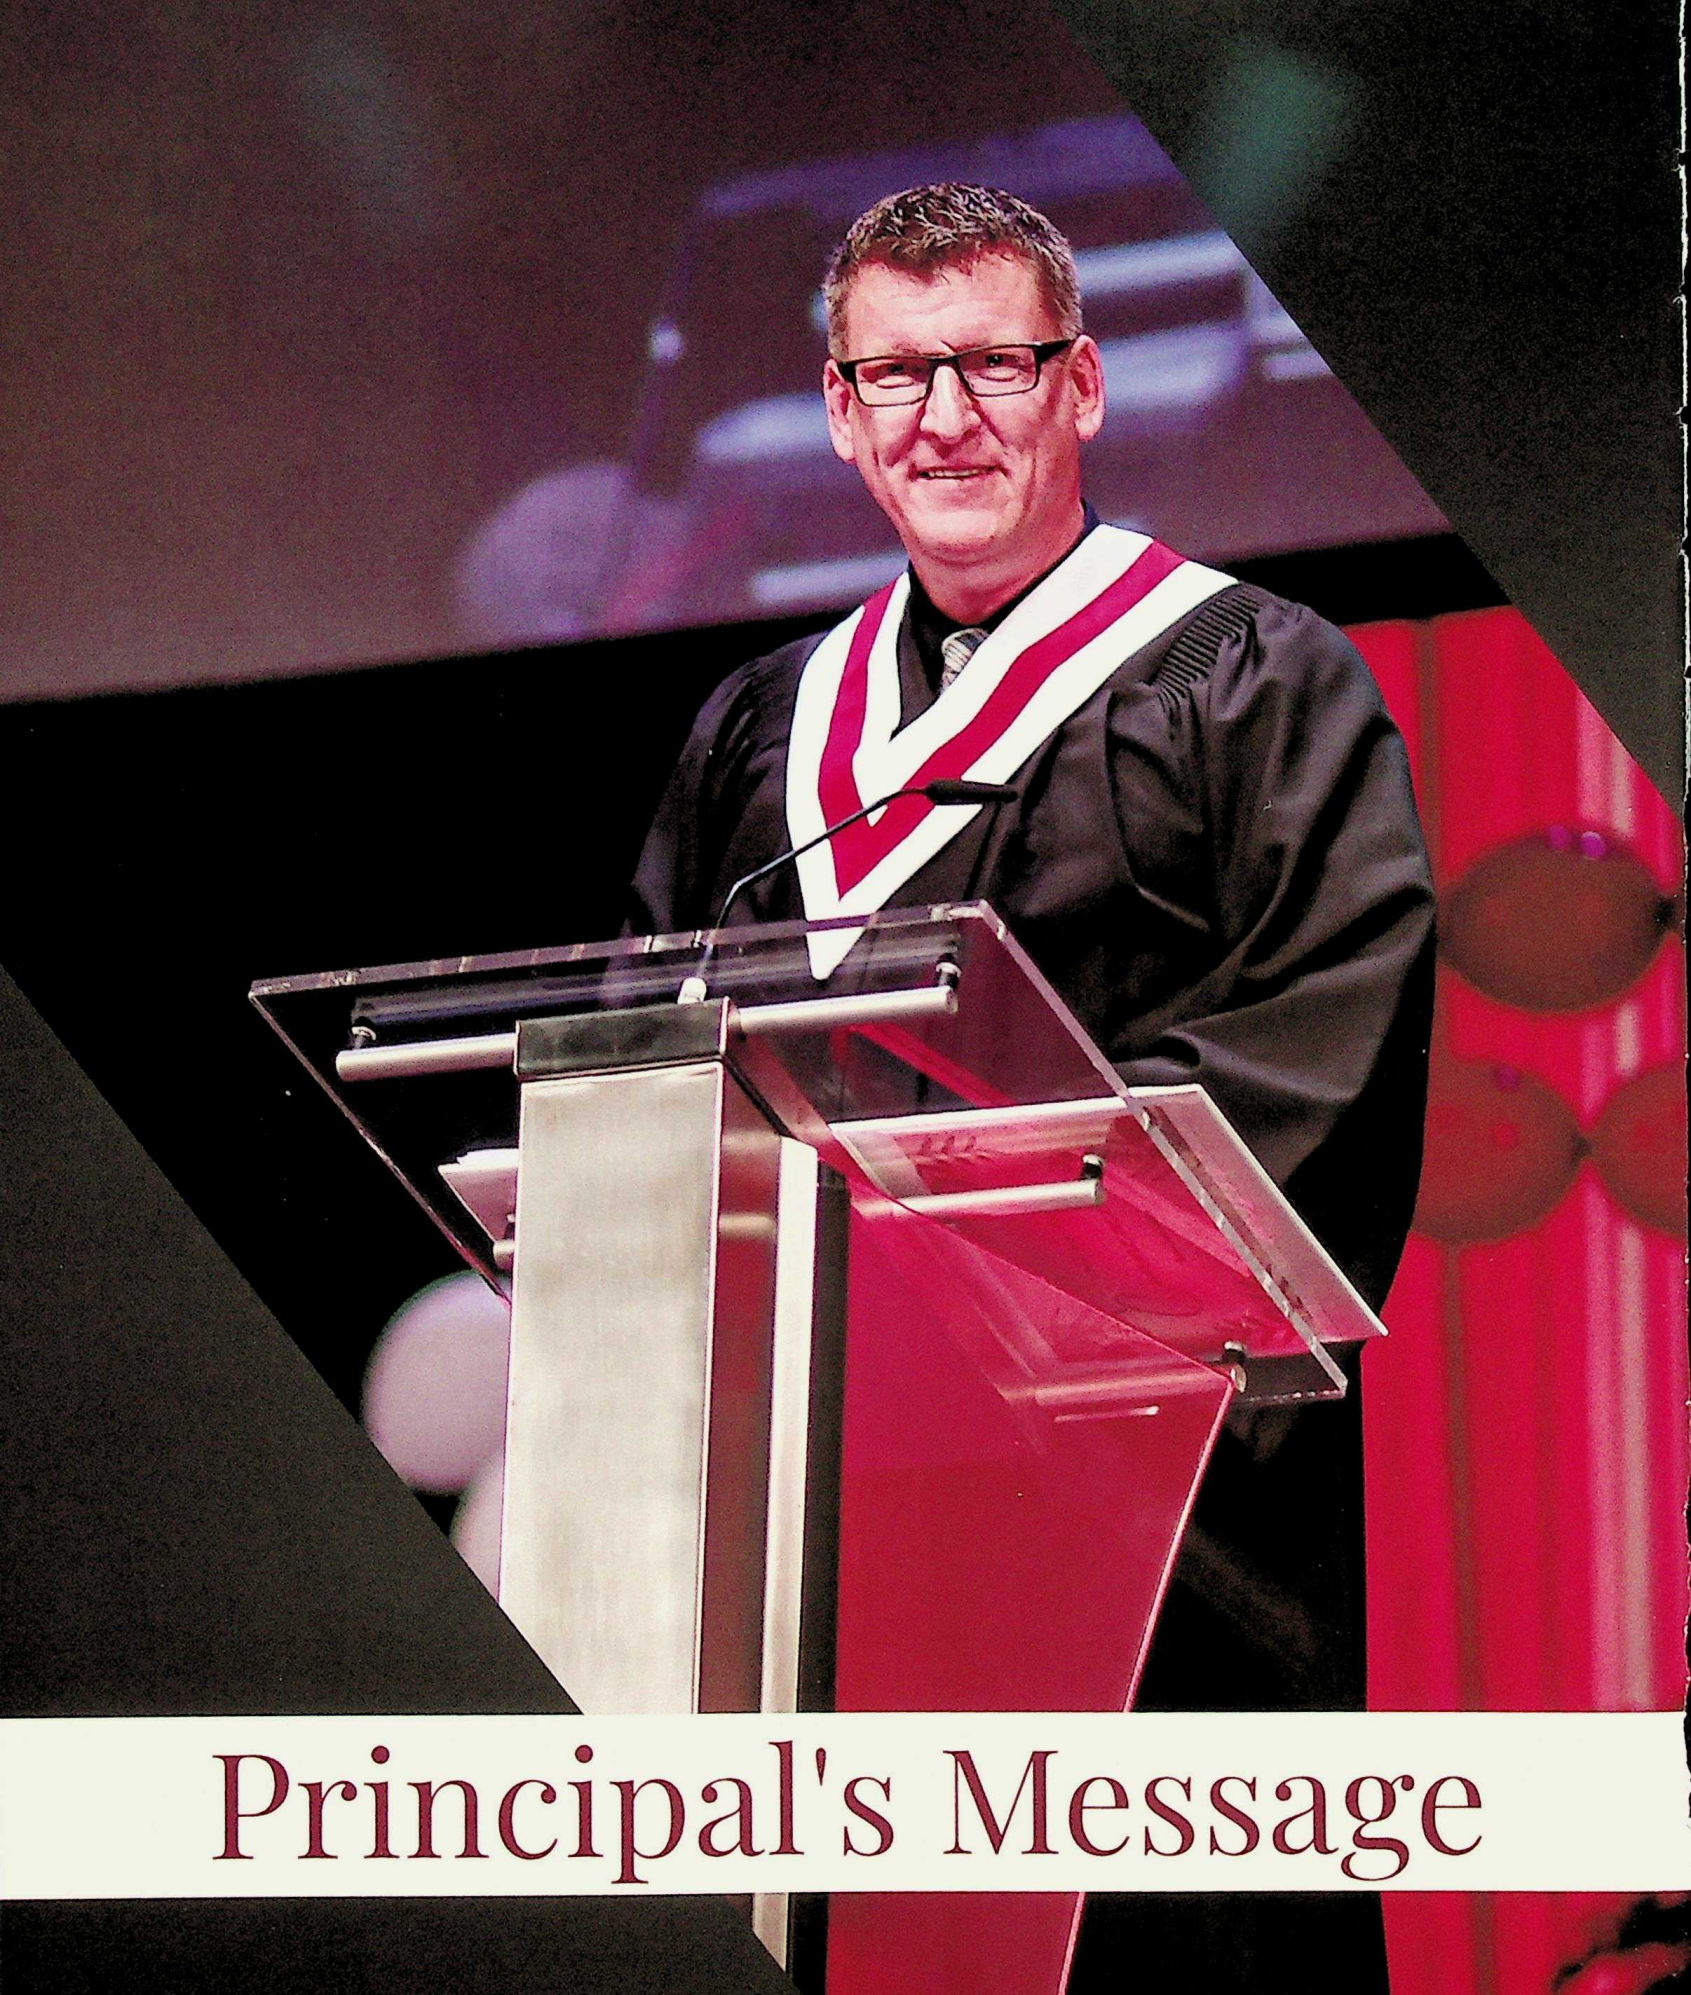
We are proud to share this student-volunteer-made publication of the 2023-2024 J. Percy Page yearbook with you. Every effort is made to ensure this yearbook is holistic, objective, and accurate - but as we are human, we sincerely apologize for any omissions, misspellings, misattributes or other mistakes that may have occurred during the editing process.

If you have a recommendation for next year, please put it in writing and get it to room 4-106. Or better yet: join our yearbook team and help us make it even better next year!

One other thing - some of our students & student families declined to have their image published in our yearbook this year. While we're sorry we don't get to have memories of their wonderful adventures here this year, we've at least tried to include their presence, where possible, by covering up their images with a panther paw print. We are very proud of all our 2023-2024 Page panthers!

WE ARE PROUD PANTHERS

"Map out your future - but do it in pencil. The road ahead is as long as you make it. Make it worth the trip."



Principal's Message

In my first year at J. Percy Page High School, I have gained tremendous respect for our students, staff, and community. I remind myself daily how fortunate I am to work with such an amazing group of young adults. J. Percy Page High School offers a high standard of education, a variety of complementary courses, and excellence in athletics, fine arts, and extracurricular activities—truly something for everyone!

At J. Percy Page, with the incredible support of staff and families, our students engage in a world of opportunities that will serve them well throughout their lives. Whether in academics, citizenship, leadership opportunities, fine arts, or sports, our students set high goals for themselves and, through hard work and dedication to self-improvement, achieve their personal bests. We are proud of all our students as they continue their education and prepare to take their place in society as productive and responsible citizens. Congratulations on a job well done!

This past school year has been unforgettable. We raised over $65,000 for the Food Bank through our Bike-a-thon, and our students were recognized for their outstanding achievements, including Jules Ng winning the Michael Strembitsky Award, the top honor in EPSB, and Clara MacLellan receiving the Ben Sauve Artstrek Bursary. While some memories captured in this yearbook may fade over time, the most important ones—the friendships, the teams or clubs you participated in, the field trips, the band concerts, the drama production of "Urinetown," and the teachers or staff members who inspired you—will last forever in your memories of high school.

To our students returning to J. Percy Page for the 2024-2025 school year, you have the opportunity to make your mark and add to the experiences that make J. Percy Page so memorable. To our graduating class of 2024, I trust that your memories of your time at Page will be filled with joy and accomplishment. Each of you will always remain a "Panther," and you should be proud of your contributions to making J. Percy Page the special school it is.

On behalf of the staff, I wish you all the very best as you venture into the undiscovered country that lies before you.

Grade 12

Congratulations J. Percy Page grads of 2024!

Some of our grads wanted to share some words of wisdom (or in a few cases, just... words). Some opted to let their experience here speak for itself. So we have three sections of grads in our yearbook this year; if you cannot find who you are looking for, be sure to check each section!

Grads who Shared Quotes .....9 - 20
Grads with Grad Photos 20-25
Grads 25-26

We are extremely proud of all of our graduating panthers - and in the words of Garner:

"Fight for what makes you optimistic about the world. Find it, insist on it, dig into it, go after it."

Good luck in all your future adventures, grads!

Carsen Wascherol

Remembering Carsen Wascherol

Carsen Wascherol was a member of our J. Percy Page family who was taken from us far too soon on December 25, 2023. Carson was not only a member of this graduating class, he was a cherished friend, a devoted student, and a shining example of kindness, resilience, and compassion. His infectious smile and sense of humor could brighten even the darkest of days. His boundless enthusiasm for life touched the lives of all who had the privilege of knowing him.

Carsen was kind-hearted, charismatic, and a really great friend to anyone that knew him. He enjoyed making people laugh and having long and meaningful conversations. He will always be greatly missed, and as we go through life, we will carry him with us in our hearts. There will be signs from Carsen throughout life, and we will know that he is cheering us on in spirit.

Words of advice from Carsen: Like a chrysanthemum (his birth flower), "We must persevere through the hardships to bloom again."

"Officer Lockstock: Everything in its time, Little Sally
You're too young to understand it now,
But nothing can kill a show like too much exposition.
Little Sally: How about bad subject matter?
Officer Lockstock: Well...
Little Sally: Or a bad title even- that could kill a show pretty good.
Officer Lockstock: Well, Little Sally, Suffice it to say that in Urinetown: The Musical
Everyone has to use public bathrooms in order to take care of their private business.
That's the central conceit of the show!"

Valedictorians' Speech

"Hunter: Firstly, we would like to congratulate every one of you for the incredible achievements that have brought you here. You should all be extremely proud of your hard work, dedication, and resilience. High school is not easy, and the fact that you are all here is a testimony to your strength and character.

Rikki: On behalf of the entire graduating class, we would like to thank our parents, and guardians, for their immense support and encouragement.

Hunter: I want to give a special thanks to my parents. My Mom worked day in and day out, regardless of sunshine or rain, to care for and support me. My mom sacrificed so much just for me. I'm thankful to her for driving me to all those 6 AM hockey practices and being my biggest fan at all my games. I wouldn't know what the world would be like without her. My dad, he's the man I look up to for his endless effort and dedication. I know behind the scenes where no one can see all of his hard work, he continues supporting my family even without the recognition he deserves. He opened up my world, teaching me to break out of my comfort zone, which is why I have all of the awesome hobbies and opportunities I do now. I truly wouldn't be the same without my parents and I can't wait to go scuba diving with you again.

Rikki: To all of the parents and guardians, thank you. Without you, we would not have achieved the many things we did.

Hunter: Lastly, we cannot forget the staff's tremendous impact on our success and growth. The support and effort every staff member put in to allow us to have a safe and successful three years cannot be ignored.

Rikki: I specifically want to thank Ms. Neale. Ms. Neale taught me, and many others, the importance of being present, embracing positivity and treating everyone with immense respect and kindness in her Student Leadership class. Without her and the opportunities she provided for me through student leadership, I can confidently say that I would not be standing here today. Ms.Neale has given countless hours of her time to ensure that we, as students, are happy, safe and appreciated. Thank you, Ms. Neale, for all you have done and continue to do for every individual at J. Percy Page.

Hunter: Every student here has a Ms. Neale, and I thank all of the teachers for supporting students in impactful ways throughout our time at J. Percy Page.

Rikki: Navigating high school was the biggest challenge I've faced yet, but also one of the biggest blessings. As we entered Grade 10, we were still in the COVID-19 pandemic, and most of us hadn't had a typical school year since grade 7. Entering a new environment after such a life-altering event instilled intense fear in me, and I am sure many of you felt the same. I was unsure of what life would throw at me, and I had no idea how to handle the rigorous course loads and late nights of studying, all while maintaining friendships and playing sports.

Hunter: We've been told our whole lives that high school is a very important time. The pressure to excel academically can often take away from our enjoyment of school. In an effort to achieve high grades, it's easy to overlook the events, activities and moments with friends and peers.

Rikki: However, through writing this speech, and reflecting on my experiences at J. Percy Page, I found myself focusing more on the memories I made with others over grades. Yes, grades are important, but so is enjoying every moment we are given outside of learning and memorizing unit circles.

Hunter: You should celebrate if you don't know what a unit circle is.

Rikki: Memories stay with us, like when you would ask to go to the bathroom or fill up your water when you were really going to meet your friends in the halls. Sorry, teachers.

Hunter: Or the multitude of events that Student Leadership planned created memories, ranging from Bike-A-Thon to a variety of pit activities.

Rikki: As we transition into a new chapter in our lives, I encourage you all to remember the good, even in challenging circumstances. Change is always scary, just as it was when we first entered the doors of J. Percy Page, fresh out of a worldwide pandemic. However, the growth and experiences we have all encountered throughout this season of our lives make the fear associated with change worth it. The people we met, some of whom have now become our closest friends, the laughter we shared during class when we were supposed to be paying attention, the lovely, lovely exams and learning which has paved the way for our future aspirations.

Hunter: It can be so easy to focus only on the negatives, such as the amount of homework you have or what a simile is.

Rikki: Though, if we do not know that by now, there may be cause for concern.

Hunter: However, when you spend your life looking only at the painful tasks, you forget to pause and appreciate everything happening around you.

Rikki: Our advice for the future is to avoid dwelling on the challenges we'll face. Instead take a step back and spend time with your loved ones, participate in events, and focus on your hobbies.

Hunter: J. Percy Page allowed us to experience that colourful life beyond simply textbooks and pencils—a life decorated with lasting memories that will stay with us forever.

Rikki: Thank you, and best of luck in your future pursuits."

A FIRST NATIONS FIRST

Wab Kinew was sworn in as premier of Manitoba in October, marking the first time a First Nations citizen was elected premier of a Canadian province. His New Democratic party defeated the incumbent Progressive Conservatives. The former author, musician and broadcaster previously led the party in Manitoba's 2019 election but was defeated despite a strong showing. The election also resulted in seating the cabinet's first First Nations women.

ANCESTRY INVESTIGATION

CBC's The Fifth Estate investigated the ancestry of Buffy Sainte-Marie, one of Canada's most prominent Indigenous celebrities, which revealed she had been born in Massachusetts to white parents—not, as Sainte-Marie long claimed, in Saskatchewan to Cree parents. A popular figure since the 1960s, not only for her award-winning musical career but also for her promotion and support of Indigenous culture and rights, Sainte-Marie originally stood by her claims, then later removed all references to her Cree ancestry from her website.

TIKTOK BAN

Canada banned the popular China-based video app TikTok from all government-owned devices in February due to data security concerns. The European Union undertook a similar ban a week earlier, and the U.S., which has 150 million monthly active TikTok users, issued its own ban the previous year.

FAREWELL

Filmmaker Norman Jewison was well known for films examining social and political issues, including In the Heat of the Night, Fiddler on the Roof and Moonstruck. He died in January at the age of 97. Other notable Canadians who passed away include artist Michael Snow, actor and writer Gordon Pinsent, singer-songwriter Gordon Lightfoot, journalist and author Peter C. Newman, TV producer Marty Krofft, mens' wear retailer Harry Rosen, former NDP leader Ed Broadbent and McDonald's Canada founder George Cohon.

Gordon Lightfoot is best known for his song "The Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald." This haunting ballad tells the story of the tragic sinking of the SS Edmund Fitzgerald in Lake Superior during a storm on November 10, 1975, with the loss of the entire crew of 29 men.

WE'RE NO. 2!

In September, U.S. News named Canada the second-best country in the world, behind Switzerland and ahead of Sweden, Australia, the United States and Japan. The ranking was based on a survey of 17,000 global citizens and examined 87 countries. Power, cultural influence, heritage and social purpose were taken into account.

ELECTION INTERFERENCE

In September, the Liberal government launched an investigation into possible foreign interference in the 2019 and 2021 elections by China and Russia, among other countries. The inquiry was demanded by the opposition Conservative party after intelligence documents were leaked suggesting China had worked to support the Liberals.

PM SPLIT

Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and his wife, Sophie, announced in August that they were separating after 18 years of marriage. The prime minister said that the couple had many meaningful and difficult conversations about their relationship leading up to their formal separation. They said they would both remain a strong presence in the lives of their three children.

STOP THE PRESSES

Meta, the company behind Facebook and Instagram, began blocking news articles on the social media platforms in August. The move came as a result of legislation requiring tech companies to pay news outlets for content that appears on their platforms. Meta said the new law misunderstood that news outlets financially benefit from appearing on social media platforms, not the other way around. Google originally planned to follow suit but in November agreed to pay for content.

RECORD-BREAKING WILDFIRES

Canada suffered its worst wildfire season on record in 2023. Approximately 18.5 million hectares of land burned across the country—more than double the previous annual record set in 1989. Most of the fires took place in boreal forests, which are home to many animals and birds and act as an important carbon bank. Some experts credited the extreme conditions to climate change, saying Canada could be witnessing a significant shift in its environment.

MASS DIGITAL MERGER

Telecommunication giants Rogers and Shaw merged in April 2023, after Rogers completed the $26-million purchase of Alberta-based Shaw. Originally announced in 2021, the deal saw pushback on several fronts—in particular from the Competition Bureau, which argued the merger would lessen wireless competition across the country. In August, the Competition Tribunal ordered the bureau to pay $13 million to Rogers and Shaw in damages for its lengthy, and eventually failed, court battle to block the sale.

SUDAN CRISIS

War broke out between rival factions of Sudan's military government in April. Since then, an estimated 12,000 have been killed, roughly 30,000 injured, nearly eleven million displaced, and another 1.5 million have left the country as refugees. The situation is described as dire, with almost half of the country's population—close to 25 million people—in need of aid, and the war continues to rage on. AP Photo/Sam Mednick, File

TAKING SIDES

On October 7, a Hamas-led Palestinian military launched a surprise missile and ground assault on southern Israel from the Gaza Strip, killing more than 1,000 people. The group claimed its attack was due to Israeli occupation of Palestinian territories. Israel declared a state of war, attacking Gaza and killing more than 28,000 Palestinians in its efforts to destroy Hamas. Protests and calls for a ceasefire have since taken place around the world.

ROYAL CANCER SCARE

Britain's newly crowned King Charles has been diagnosed with cancer and immediately began regular treatments. More than 20 million people watched Charles' televised coronation ceremony the previous May, which was estimated to have cost anywhere from 50 to 250 million pounds. Charles' wife, Camilla, was crowned queen.

FINLAND JOINS NATO

In April, Finland became the newest member of NATO, bringing total membership in the international military alliance to 31. The country first applied for membership in 2022, though its aspiration to join dates back to the Soviet invasion from November 1939 to March 1940. Finnish public opinion for joining had been low but swung in favor following Russia's 2022 invasion of Ukraine.

PENSION PROTEST

More than a million French citizens took to the streets in March to protest President Emmanuel Macron's plan to raise the country's legal retirement age from 62 to 64. Labor unions walked off the job in protest, bringing much of the country to a standstill. Macron's plan was meant to address an estimated pension shortfall brought on by increased life expectancies. Previously, France's retirement age was raised from 60 in 2010.

THE WAR CONTINUES

Russia's invasion of Ukraine continued. By August, the total number killed on both sides since the war began in 2022 had grown to nearly 500,000. In June, the private Russian military group Wagner staged a rebellion against Russia's Ministry of Defence, with the group's leader, Yevgeny Prigozhin, stating President Vladimir Putin's justifications for the war against Ukraine were false. Prigozhin and other Wagner leaders were killed in a plane crash two months later.

CLIMATE CHANGES

According to the National Centers for Environmental Information, 2023 was the hottest year globally and fifth hottest year in the contiguous U.S. The average temperature was 2.4 degrees Fahrenheit warmer than the 20th-century average, with 35 states experiencing one of their top 10 hottest years to date. Some areas saw record-breaking rain and snowfall, resulting in severe storms and flooding, while others experienced severe drought. The year also saw 28 individual billion-dollar climate- and weather-related disasters—the highest number in 44 years.

A QUAKE FOR THE AGES

A massive earthquake struck central Turkey and parts of Syria in February, which was quickly followed by a second quake of near equal magnitude. Damage was widespread, with more than three million left homeless and over 50,000 killed. It was the largest earthquake in Turkey since 1939 and the deadliest in the area since 526 CE.

COVID'S DOWNWARD TREND

In May, the World Health Organization (WHO) declared an end to the COVID-19 global health emergency. The organization stressed that the new status was not meant to imply the disease was no longer a threat, only that increased immunity and decreased death rates had put the pandemic on a downward trend. COVID-19 was first declared a global emergency by WHO in January 2020.

TUNNEL WORKERS FREED

Forty-one construction workers who became trapped in a collapsed mountain tunnel in India were freed after 17 days in November. The workers were pulled to safety through welded pipes the rescuers had been using to remove dirt and rocks from the tunnel. The tunnel collapsed when a landslide caused a portion to cave in 650 feet from the entrance.

REBRAND TO THE MAX

Warner Brothers Discovery rebranded its streaming service in May, dropping the "HBO" from HBO Max. The company said the move was an attempt to give the service a more family-friendly vibe and showcase its broad range of content, which, along with HBO titles and shows from the Discovery Channel, includes 35,000 hours of programming.

STREAM-FLATION

Netflix, Disney+, Apple TV+ and Hulu all significantly raised their subscription prices in an attempt to increase revenues. In many cases, the streamers did away with previous ad-free plans and introduced new, cheaper plans alongside higher-priced tiers. Netflix and Disney also began cracking down on password sharing.

TAYLOR + TRAVIS

Following months of speculation, fans confirmed that singer Taylor Swift and NFL star Travis Kelce were an item, when Swift was spotted cheering on the Kansas City Chiefs tight end alongside his mother at a game in September. Swift, whose dating life has become a hot topic in both the media and her songs, later admitted the two had been dating since the summer, when Kelce expressed his interest in her on a podcast.

SIGNING OFF

Throughout her 50-plus-year music career, Tina Turner entertained with a fiery energy that earned her the title the Queen of Rock 'n' Roll. She died in May at the age of 83. Other entertainers who passed away this year include Matthew Perry (Friends), Lisa Marie Presley (daughter of Elvis), Paul Reubens (Pee-wee Herman), Toby Keith (country singer), Carl Weathers (Rocky), Jimmy Buffet (singer-songwriter), John Romita (Spider-Man artist) and Cormac McCarthy (The Road).

HOLLYWOOD STRIKES

Beginning in May, Hollywood's writers went on a labor strike that lasted 148 days. Their walkout was joined in July by a strike of Hollywood's actors, marking the first time since 1960 both unions had been at the picket line at the same time. Hot button issues included the prevention of artificial intelligence from replacing writers and actors, and improved compensation from streaming services. Film and television production ground to a halt, altering movie schedules and delaying the fall TV season. Agreements were reached with both unions by the end of 2023.

MICKEY MOUSE FOR ALL

Following two copyright law extensions that allowed the Walt Disney Company to retain exclusive rights to its signature mascot for an additional 40 years, 95-year-old Mickey Mouse's copyright protection finally expired in January, putting the earliest version of the character in the public domain. Anyone in the U.S. can now use the character without infringement, as evidenced by the trailer for a Mickey-themed horror movie that was quickly released upon expiration.

VEGAS GETS GLITZIER

Sphere, a 366-foot-high, 18,600-seat auditorium featuring a 16K resolution wraparound screen, opened just outside the Las Vegas Strip in September. U2 kicked off the inaugural show with the first night of a planned 40-show residency. Sphere's exterior is also made of a wraparound screen, allowing it to be seen in various forms from afar. Built at a cost of $2.3 billion, it's Vegas's most expensive building and the largest sphere structure in the world.

THE END

Surviving Beatles Paul McCartney and Ringo Starr released what was billed as the group's final song in November. "Now and Then," which featured tracks by late Beatles John Lennon and George Harrison, arrived 53 years after the group disbanded and 60 years after the band's famous Ed Sullivan Show appearance, which kicked off Beatlemania in America. Its video received eight million views on YouTube within two hours of release.

THE TAYLOR SWIFT ERA

Taylor Swift's Eras Tour, which played 151 shows across five continents, became the highest grossing tour of all time, as well as the first to earn more than $1 billion in revenue. The tour broke the previous U.S. record of most tickets sold in a single day ($2.4 million) and the filmed version of the tour quickly became the highest-grossing concert film ever. Swift ended 2023 by breaking Elvis Presley's record for most weeks at number one by a solo artist on the Billboard 200 chart and began 2024 surpassing the record for the most Grammy Album of the Year wins.

UNLIKELY COUPLE

When Barbie and Oppenheimer were released on the same day in July, they created a box-office phenomenon. "Barbenheimer" was the movie event of the year, as viewers flocked to see an unlikely double bill of stories based on a popular Mattel doll and the father of the atomic bomb, respectively. Both films were among the highest grossing films of 2023, earning a combined 21 Oscar nominations. Barbie's Greta Gerwig also became the first solo female to direct a billion-dollar movie.

HOLLYWOOD TURNS 100

It was a centennial year for several of Hollywood's biggest symbols, including the Hollywood sign. Originally a real-estate advertisement, Los Angeles' most famous icon was almost torn down in 1949 due to its state of disrepair but instead it was restored and declared a landmark. Two movie studios also turned 100 in 2023: Warner Bros. and Disney, the respective homes of Looney Tunes and Mickey Mouse.

BIG TECH

Apple made history in July, when it became the first company in the world with a market value of $3 trillion. Apple's value has tripled since 2018 and in 2022 exceeded that of Walmart, Disney, Netflix, Nike, Exxon Mobil, Coca-Cola, Comcast, Morgan Stanley, McDonald's, AT&T, Goldman Sachs, Boeing, IBM and Ford combined. As stock prices ebbed and flowed throughout the year, Microsoft eventually surpassed Apple in value and in January crossed the $3 trillion line itself, thanks in part to its work with AI.

MERRIAM-WEBSTER'S WORD OF THE YEAR

The rise of public discourse surrounding artificial intelligence landed "authentic" as Merriam-Webster's 2023 Word of the Year. The dictionary said the word was already a high-volume lookup, but recent advances in AI and blurred lines between what's real and what's fake led to a significant increase in searches. "Authentic" has several meanings, including "not false or imitation."

TWEET STORM

Elon Musk stepped down as Twitter's CEO in June, abiding by the results of a user poll showing ongoing discontent with his reign over the social media platform. Still, Musk continued making major decisions regarding Twitter's day-to-day operations—most notably, a complete rebranding of the platform as X. In the first year of Musk's ownership, X usership was down 15 percent, and the platform lost more than half its value.

MONTANA BANS TIKTOK

In May 2023, Montana became the first state to pass legislation banning the use of popular Chinese-based video app TikTok. The law was set to take effect in January but was blocked by a federal judge who claimed the ban likely violated First Amendment rights. By March 2024, the ban was still under appeal by the state. The federal government had already banned the app from all government-owned devices over worries that U.S. user information was being passed on to the Chinese government.

SETBACKS IN SPACE

SpaceX's Starship rocket exploded eight minutes into a November test flight that was to see it partially circle the globe and ditch into the Pacific Ocean. Despite the setback, the test was deemed more successful than an initial test undertaken the previous April. The 400-foot rocket is the largest ever built and is expected to fly NASA astronauts to the moon by 2026 and, eventually, to Mars. A third test was planned for March 2024.

AI FEARS

Artificial intelligence (AI) went mainstream in 2023 with the release of GPT-4, a language model created by OpenAI that can generate text similar to human speech in ways far superior to any previous software. Fear surrounding the possibilities of AI being detrimental to humanity was one of the rumored reasons OpenAI removed co-founder and CEO Sam Altman from the company in November. However, a staff revolt (and a job offer to Altman from Microsoft) led to his reinstatement days later.

BRADY RETIRES (AGAIN)

NFL star Tom Brady retired in February—this time for good. The Tampa Bay Buccaneers star previously retired a year earlier, only to change his mind 40 days later. Serving 23 seasons, Brady is considered the best quarterback in NFL history. He now qualifies for the league hall of fame as early as 2028, and the Patriots' owner said he would waive the usual four-year waiting period and induct Brady into the team's hall of fame immediately.
